

Chapter 7 Coordination

7-1. Emergency Response

Districts should establish emergency response procedures and training suitable to the level of fire-fighting equipment and services available, and the ease of accessibility to same, for each of its locks. These procedures should be coordinated with local fire departments, emergency squads, and police to ensure an effective response when needed. In some areas, the Coast Guard may also be available to assist in an emergency response.